2011 MARIN GOP PLATFORM
Promises Real Solutions to Improve Quality of Life for Everyone in Marin

San Rafael, CA (October 28, 2011)—The Marin Republican Party crafted a new platform built upon the bedrock principle that the wisdom necessary to restore Marin to an even keel resides less in the halls of government and more in its people. At its monthly meeting, the Marin County Republican Central Committee (MCRCC) voted for a platform with four main objectives: to actively work toward pension reform; to support policies that cultivate economic growth and personal prosperity; to revitalize our educational system; and to protect our environment through common sense approaches that include more hands-on local involvement.

As stated in the platform’s preamble, the Marin GOP is committed to action that unites Marinites from all walks of life. The MCRCC believes that improving quality of life in Marin for everyone must begin at the foundational level. The Republican Party will lead the drive for our county and regional governments to commit to fiscal responsibility; the development of policies that encourage private sector growth; and the reduction of unnecessary regulation for individuals, families, and businesses.

A primary concern of the Marin GOP is that Marin’s current pension system is unsustainable and a fiscally responsible plan must be enacted immediately to forestall an economic collapse that will cripple the county’s ability to provide fundamental services to the residents of Marin. The MCRCC supports a full disclosure of unfunded liabilities, pursuing sustainable changes to the system, and the enactment of the Marin County Council of Mayors and Council Members June 22, 2011 report on pension reform.

According to Kevin Krick, MCRCC Chairman, “Our platform reflects the notion that many of us reside in Marin because we believe it is representative of the best of the California Dream. While that dream may vary from person to person, to make it a reality requires a sound foundation. Our new platform represents the cornerstone of that foundation.”

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of the MCRCC platform or learning more about the Marin GOP is welcome to visit their website at www.maringop.org or to email us at info@maringop.org.

# #